There is no public information or search result that confirms anyone named Shiori Nagai has been a guest on the CNBC show Mad Money with Jim Cramer. [1, 2]

The name "Shiori Nagai" is associated with several profiles, including individuals working in administrative roles at companies like WeWork Japan and non-business contexts like a K-pop singer or anime production staff. However, none of these individuals are identified as a public figure, CEO, or market expert who would typically appear as a guest on a major financial news program like Mad Money. [1, 3, 4]

It is likely there is a misunderstanding regarding the person's name or the show they appeared on. CEOs and other high-profile individuals do appear on the show, and details about those appearances are widely public, often shared on platforms like LinkedIn. [3]
